

You don't have to be MAD to work here

but it helps

For highways, traffic management and ANPR projects, as well as town/city centres and local/national government installations, more and more consultants and specifiers are beating a path to our door. Because MAD design, manufacture and assemble under one roof we can provide unrivalled levels of flexibility and support, and you'd have to go a very long way indeed to find a range of CCTV equipment as reliable and robust at such competitive prices. For a first class fit and forget solution that's just up your street do the sensible thing. Call a MADman today.
